PROJECT BIKE LOVE

Last month, Project Bike Love honored the memory of Jill Hampton, affectionately known as the Cookie Lady, by gifting 20 bicycles to isolated native communities in the Paraguayan Chaco. These indigenous people lack access to transportation, making it challenging for them to fetch essential resources like water and firewood back to their village. The generous donation of bicycles will now empower them to overcome this difficulty.

Jill Hampton was a beloved figure in the southern cycling community, known for her dedication as a leader at R5Ciclismo, with a particular focus on women and cycling. She was always ready to support others, organizing activities and attending the Saturday rides with freshly baked cookies or bread to share.

To honor Jill's memory, the funds collected through a GoFundMe campaign were contributed to Project Bike Love, a cause that held a special place in her heart. Being a female cyclist herself, Jill strongly believed in empowering other women. Project Bike Love shares this vision, as they firmly believe in the transformative power of bicycles, especially for underprivileged women and girls.

The collective efforts and donations from compassionate individuals have allowed Jill's legacy to continue, bringing positive changes to the lives of women in need. If you are interested in supporting this cause and helping provide bicycles to women and girls in similar circumstances, you can find more information at Project Bike Love.

Thank you to everyone who contributed to Jill’s Memorial. Special thanks to Belen Ramirez of Project Bike Love for connecting Jill’s love of cycling with women and communities truly in need of bicycles.
